Erasmus project about migration and integration

Sep '23 - Mar '25

Immigration and integration don't always go hand in hand with each other. With this project we want to try to broaden our pupils' horizons to try and create more awareness and understanding. That way, we hope to diminish ongoing polarization about these themes. We will try to raise consciousness about inclusion and multiculturalism to further shape the European identity of our students.

A topical subject like this, which has plenty of concrete expressions in the form of specific communities or culinary traditions, can offer us all these opportunities, and we're eager for this new project to get off the ground! Will you join us?
